In a competitive world and with the high penetration of the Banks, is it a must to have an edge to differentiate our fund from the competitors.

Preference for Small and Mid caps

- Business easy to understand.
- Global or local niche business leaders.
- Lower exposure in the phase 3-4 of the business cycle.

Not investing in all sectors

- Not invest in business where the companies don't have any tool to manage their revenues, because the price of their product depends from the supply and demand of the market: Ex: Commodities

Concentration

- Invests in a maximum of 25-30 stocks.
- The Top 10 holdings represents more than 50% of AuM.

- Exemples: Frontdoor, Victrex, Gerrad Perrier, Microsoft, LDC Group, Calian group, Neuronex, Infotel, IEH Corporation, etc.

Accounting Red Flags

- Business with a low probability that an accounting problem could reduce the profit or cash flow of the company. Ex: Pensions deficit, operating leases, deferred tax assets, revenue recognition, etc.

Contact with company management

- Is it really difficult to understand well a company without talking with the management. A low market cap company, a higher probability to talk with the CEO. Ex: L.D.C, Holland Colours, All for One Steeb, etc.

Low correlation with equity indexes

- Low beta versus equity market index.

Tail Risk Strategies

- Buying OTM PUT index options (20-30% below market prices), only when there're reasonable probability of going to a recession.

LONG TERM TARGET RETURN

- Go with the market when is going UP and protect the capital when is going DOWN.
